

Photography, Intro to (Moffat)

Through the lens of a 35mm camera, Introduction to Photography offers students a new way to see and control light. They learn how to use a camera, develop film, and print in the darkroom. Projects include: the camera obscura, various shooting assignments on and off campus, and exposure to other photographers, both contemporary and historical. Students build on technique and vision. In-school 35mm loaner cameras are available.
